WASHINGTON, June 29 .- There was an insting debate in the Seante to-day on Senabe Hawley's proposed amendment to the rmy Appropriation bill, providing for the rchase or manufacture of guns for seacoast ent, first, because he did not think that the rmy bill was the proper place for such a propoitton; second, because he did not believe that terms of the amendment were sufficiently marded to protect the interest of the seguitry a beginning such a great enterprise. It proposed to place the whole $6,300,000 in the hands of the Ordnauce Bureau—a system which was generally regarded as victous, bad, and sure to result in disaster. He commended the legislation of the last Congress in regard to he fast cruisers, and referred to the establishment growing up on the Patapsco, not five niles from Baltimore, as one which was to beome the greatest in the world. He asserted that there was nothing on the Clyde to equal

18. and that, within five years, it would be prepared to make anything from a nail to the within ten years even, with all the conditions as they now stood (even with iron ores taxed as they were under the existing tariff), vessels would be made there as cheaply as on the Clyde. That was one of the outgrowths of the legislation of the last Congress, and of the intel-ligent and patriotic administration of the Navy Department. He denounced the Ordnance Department as affected with dry rot. There was not a man in it, he said, who had ever permitted an inventor of the country to bring his invention to perfection. The Ordnance Bureau, mitted an inventor of the country to bring his invention to perfection. The Ordnance Bureau, as it was now, and as it would be under the amendment, was the graveyard of American genius and enterprise. It had destroyed every man who had invented a new gun. Not satisfied with the liberal appropriations made to it for experiments, it wanted exclusive control of the whole affair. He spoke of Lieut. Zalinski's experiments with the dynamite gun at Sandy Hook as having been recognized and approved by the Secretary of War and by the General of the army, who regarised it as the most formidable wearon known to the world, whereas the Ordnance Bureau was throwing obstacles in the way and insinuating that the dynamite gun was of novalue. If he were Secretary of War there was not a man in that bureau who had been daliying at Washington for the last four years whom he would not send to the interior, and he would bring in some new blood that would not interiore with and obstruct great improvements.

Mr. Hawley asked Mr. Gorman whether he would wait three years to build the guns.

Mr. Hawley asked Mr. Gorman whether he would wait three years to build the guns.

Mr. Hawley asked Mr. Gorman whether he was and genius should be excluded from the appropriation to-day, not on this bill, but on the American people that their private enterprise and genius should be excluded from the war Department. I am ready to vote for the appropriation to-day, not on this bill, but on the regular bill the Fortifications bill. But I would surround it with such conditions as yould open the door to private enterprise, But I will oppose, at all times and forever, the proposition of the Senator from Connecticut, which places $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 (to begin with) in the hands of officers who have no respect for the rights of people outside : who have always falled to recognize even a valuable invention when it is brought to their attention.

Mr. Hawley said it was thirteen years since one dollar had been spent in the construction of coast defences. The never become obsolete. The proposition of the Benator from Maryland. If he understood it, was that private concerns should be invited to make a perfected gun. But he (Mr. Hawley) isserted that no large steel manufacturer in the country would undertake, on any terms that the Government would listen to or the people sanction, to build a twelve or sixteen inch gun in its own shops purely for experiment. Mr. Hawley defended the ordnance officers of the army and navy, to whom, he cald, the grossest injustice had been done. There was a body of young men in the Ordnance Corps of both the army and navy who were not surpassed or equalled on the staff sorps of any nation.

Mr. Butter (Dem., S. C.) argued in favor of the amendment. The appropriation should be made, and made promptly and without further delay. He did not sympathize with the disposition to criticise the ordnance officers of the army and navy, simply because they declined to adopt the suggestions of every crank who chose to come before them with devices for the improvement of ordnance. If the Senator from Maryland had been a member of the Committee on Military Affairs, or the Committee on Mayland had been a member of the Committee on Mayland had been a member of the Committee on Mayland had been a member of the conclusion that those ordnance officers were subject to a very trying ordeal. Not three days agola gentleman ireferring to Mr. Berdan appeared before the Committee on Naval Affairs, he would soon have come to the conclusion that those ordnance officers were subject to a very trying ordeal. Not three days agola gentleman ireferring to Mr. Berdan appeared before the Committee on Naval Affairs he would soon have come to the conductor that it had not been tested; but he flaunted into the face of the committee the threat that, unless it recommended the appropriation he asked, he would take a steamer the threat that, unless it recommended the ap-propriation he asked, he would take a steamer for Europe in August and would have the de-vice adopted there. That was an illustration of what ordnance officers had to encounter of what ordnance officers had to encounter almost daily.

Mr. Reagan (Dem., Tex.) said the amendment was a measure in the right direction, and the work sould not be begun too seen. If any Sentator had a better way to propose he would vote for that better way; but he would accept this until a better was proposed.

Mr. Plumb (Rep., Ran.) suggested that the gun of the future would not be made of steel at all, but of a metal composed of iron and aluminum in combination, aluminum being a universal metal contained in all clays, and being lighter, more ductile, and with more tensile strength than iron or steel. He predicted that if the proposed plan was adopted it would be abandoned within five years; and said that one shot from the pusumatic dynamite gun would do more damage than a thousand shots fired from the best guns whose propelling power was powder.

Mr. Stewart asked how it would be if the would do more damage than a thousand shots fired from the best guns whose propelling power was powder.

Mr. Stowart asked how it would be if the United States should be at war to-morrow.

Mr. Plumb-How would it be if the skies should fall? We should catch larks. The man does not live who will hear the first hostile shot fired on the American const.

Mr. Hawley said that Congress dare not invite a quarrel with any foreign nation. No Congress could be assembled idiotic enough to declare war against a fourth-rate power for any imaginable insult. Other nations had this country at their mercy. Great Britain had her great rendezvous in Canada and the West Indies, within twenty hours of the coast of the United States, and within almost gunshot on the Pacific. Under any imaginable provocation the United States would have to resort to negotiation, to the arts of diplomacy and politoness. But if, for very shame, the American beople were driven to war and were humiliated, then the men who argued against the policy of providing guns would hide themselves, and would call upon the mountains to fall upon them.

Without having come to a vote on the bill or amendment, the Senate, at 6:20, adjourned until 11 A. M. to-morrow.

The House, in Committee of the Whole tolay on the Tariff bill, refused to strike from the free list the following articles: Rugs, or whatever material composed; reeds, manufac-tured, but not made tute finished articles; stones, unmanufactured or undressed, free-atone, granite, sandstone, and all building or monumental stone. On motion of Mr. Breckinridge of Arkansas paintings, in oil or water colors, and statuary not otherwise provided for, were added to the freedlist. the free list the following articles: Rugs, of Mr. Baker of New York moved to add photographic print parer, not albumenized or sensitized, to the free list. Lost.

Mr. Russell of Massachusetts' moved to place primuline on the free list. He stated that it was a dye used in the manufacture of couton goods, and that it was not produced in this complete the consideration of the free list section. and that it was a freed to.

This completed the consideration of the free list section, and the Clerk proceeded to read the dutiable portion of the bill. The clause providing that the change in the rate of duties shall take effect July I, 1888, was passed over informally.

Mr. Dingley of Maine, moved to lay a duty of 15 cents a cask on lime, which was yesterday struck from the free list.

Mr. Affreekinridge of Arkansas opposed the motion, which he said would increase the present rate of duty 300 per cent. It was lost,

Mr. Adams of Bilnois moved to strike out the clause flxing the rate of duty on refined giveerine at 3 cents a pound. After a long discussion the motion was rejected and the committee rose.

"Prior to May 22, 1888, application was made for reimbursement of the expenses attending the last slekness and burial of this pensioner, and on the day mentioned such application was transmitted to the proper auditing officer for adjustment. I have no other information of the death of this soldier; but as his age is

There were four bids for six turning and boring lathes for sixteen-inch B. L. R., the lowest of which was that of the Niles Tool Works at $400,300. There were also four bids for three sixteen-inch B. L. R. packets. The lowest was that of Rement, Miles & Co. at $117,500. The Secretary also received the three bids received on Jan. 5 last for slotter for six-inch B. L. R. trunion bands. The lowest bid, that of the S. C. The other two, the Niles Tool Works at $7,300, and Hement, Miles & Co. at $7,950, were rejected as excessive. lathes and jackets for the Washington Navy

The President to-day accepted the resignation of Lieut. Emory H. Taunt of the navy, to ton of Lieut, Emory H. Faunt of the navy, to take effect to-morrow. Taunt was convicted by a court martial in November, 1887, of ab-sence without leave and flagrant disobedience of orders, and was sentenced to be dismissed the service. Considerable pressure was brought to bear upon the President to prevent his dis-missal, and the President finally consented to allow him to resign.

meetings have been the result, and the stronger roads are said to have tried the same tricks to sell their tickots. The fact is that the weaker lines, both East and West, are in favor of commissions, for they need something to stimulate their business. Their men were noticeably scarce at the Long Branch meeting, which threatened to tie them up. Commissioner Blanchard of the Central Trafile Association presided. Lots of letters were read from roads denying the payment of commissions, and the conference adjourned to meet at Crescent, Pa., on July 17. The Tuxede Suit.

"I have been wondering for years," a lady said recently, "why some enterprising person didn't get up a suitable costume which issiles could wear for out of door sports. The regulation flannel suits used for tennis, yachting, rowing, Ac., are almost as uncomfortable as ordinary dresses would be, and very unsatisfactory. But it his come at last, I have found just the thing. It is called the Tagedo suit, and is made of the finest worsted materials, entirely knitted, full-lashined, without a bit of sewing about it. It consists of a bicoser wants, tsirt, and seek, and you can get it in any colors you want. Why, I wouldn't change for anything it stands water and doesn't shrink at all, besides being a perfect hot weather suit."

The lady spick truly and not too enthusiastically, James McCreery & company, Brondway and Eleventh street, have produced the most popular summer garment seen for a long time, and the real Tuxedo suit is sold by them. EDUCATION IN BROOKLYN.

WILL MATOR CHAPIN APPOINT WOMEN TO THE BOARD?

Fifteen Members of the Board of Education to be Appointed To-day-The Great In-terest Taken by Women in the Subject. Mayor Chapin is to appoint fifteen members of the Board of Education in Brooklyn today. For the past two or three years, Brooklyn has been agitating the subject of the appointment of woman commissioners, in accordance with a precedent established by New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, and recently endorsed by Chicago. The movement has been approved by the various societies in the city, the woman's clubs of both literary and suffragist principles, the different temperance organizations, numbering thousands of members, which invariably favor the endowing of women with all possible power and influence in the administration of public many of the charitable associations in the city. and several of the churches. At the laying of the corner stone of the building for the "Union of Christian Works" the opinion of the people was unanimously expressed in favor of this change in the management of the public schools. The Woman's Suffrage Club has been inde atigable in its efforts to arouse the interest of the people in this question and to enlist their sympathies on the side of the reformers. It has been claimed by good authority that the movement originated in their club, and it is true that many of the leaders are members of that organization. Through their efforts the Rev. Dr. Abbott spoke in Brooklyn on this subject, and made arrangements to head a delegation commissioned to lay the matter before the Mayor and seek his coopera-

Such arguments are, of course, based on the assumption that the courts will uniformly sustain the Commissioners and the law under which they are acting. It is useless to combat arguments Although prices closed generally and in some cases materially higher than yesterday, the volume of trading was a little smaller. The ease with which the market improves, and upon small transactions, indicates that there is no large volume of stocks seeking a market. St. Paul continues to hold the first place in point of activity, but the conspicuously strong stocks were Union Facilic. New England, and Northern Facilic preferred. The salient feature of the Stock Exchange The salient feature of the Stock Exchange markets is, however, the dealings in bonds, All fairly good issues are in good demand. This is not surprising considering that the interest and similar disbursements on July I will be much larger than usual. It is estimated that those disbursements will exceed $90,000,000. The final movement was an advancing one under the lead of Union Facilic, which stock reflected reports from Washington favorable to the early consideration of the Funding bill.

Sinai and the Wilderness, by Edward L. Wilson, with engravings of photographs by the author. The route of travel from the Red Sea to Mt. Sinai is that supposed to have been taken by the Children of Israel, and the paper describes "where the Israclites first encamped," "the rock struck by Moses," the ascent of Mt. Sinai," "the plain of assemblage," &c., &c.

"The Steppes of the Irtish,"

BY GEORGE KENNAN. In the series on "Siberia and the Exile System" of which the Literary Worldsays: "It is perhaps not too much to predict that it will prove epoch making." This paper, which is fully illustrated is an account of a visit to an out-of the way part of Siberia among the Kirghia is the main topic treated in this month's Lincoln History, and Col. Hay's diary is drawn upon effectively to elucidate the narrative. There is also a chapter on the Mason and Sideli affair, in which is reproduced Mr. Seward's original despatch to the American Minister L England, showing Mr. Lincoln's corrections therein.

The Career of the Confederate Ram

"Albemarle."

Among the most popular of all the War Papers in THE CENTURY have been those describing naval combats. A collection of brief articles, supplementary to the War Series, published in this number under the above caption, deals with some of the mostromantic and heroic events of the War. The contributors include some of the principal actors, among others the late Commander Cushing, who blew up the "Albemarle."

The Gettysburg Reunion is remembered by a stirring poem, "The High Tide at Gettysburg," by an ex-Confederate soldier: "Waiting for the Bugle," by T. W. Higginson; a short paper on "Reunions of the Blue and the Gray;" and a story by

Brander Matthews, "On the Battleffeld." Special Papers. 'Disease Germa and How to Combat Them." by Lucius Pitkin, includes a frontisplece portrait of Pas-teur; "Dreams, Nightmares, and Somnambulism," by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, contains much of popular interest. "Lichfield Cathedral" includes a number of beautiful illustrations by Pennell. There are other con-tents, including "Open Letters," "Brica Brac," &c. For sale everywhere on and after June 30.
